Astronomy club

Photography club

Humour club

2. Objectives of the Practice

The purpose of making the students understand the importance of SAC activities for their better career opportunities. Students were able to collaborate with their team members, demonstrated their talents, applied creative thinking, and also were able to increase their self-confidence in attending the club activities.

3. Contextual features or challenging issues that needed to be addressed in designing and implementing this practice

Training the students with variable capacities require adequate facilitators and considerable amount of time. Physical presence of the facilitator is also required during the course of time and that was also a major difficulty to achieve 100% perfection.

4. The Practice

1. Conducting various club activities for students
2. Students are motivated to participate in all activities..
3. Regular participation in the activities help them to learn and exhibit their skills. .

5. Evidence of Success

Participation of the students is on an increasing trend. Average participation per student per club is also increasing well.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Most of the students were showing much interest and few others are reluctant towards their commitment. So driving them and making them to complete their task needed extra attention, patience and passion from the faculty.
